COLLEGE ARGUS.

Published on alternate Wednesdays throughout the collegiate year at the Wesleyan University.

MIDDLETOWN, CONN., DEC. 7, 1870.

EDITORS,

B. A. BROOKS, } '71. { R. W. C. FARNSWORTH,
G. INGRAHAM, } { W. F. POTTER.

TERMS,

One College Year, (in advance,)	$1.75
Single Copies,	.10

The College Argus is published by an association of members of the Senior Class.

It will be mailed to any address on receipt of price.

For sale at the bookstores of McLean & Co., E. Rockwell, and C. E. Putnam, where subscriptions will also be received.

The Argus is forwarded to all subscribers until an explicit order is received for its discontinuance and until all arrearages are paid as required by law.

All communications should be addressed to the College Argus, Middletown, Conn. No anonymous contributions will be received.

CONTENTS OF THIS NUMBER.

What Does the Fire Say?	81
Correspondence,	81
A College Without a Campus,	83
Small Practice,	84
Delta Kappa Epsilon Convention,	85
College News,	86
Facetiæ,	88
Notes and Queries,	88
Locals,	89
Personals,	91
Our Exchanges,	93
Book Notices,	93

CIRCUMSTANCES rendered it impossible for the editors to proof-read a portion of the last ARGUS. This fact accounts for several mistakes which occurred.

WE acknowledge the receipt of the "Minutes of the Rock River Conference" and the "Annual Catalogue of Wesleyan Academy."

THE Williams Review thinks "rushes" conducted as they are there promote better feelings between the two classes, and more friendly relations between members of the same class. We wonder how they are "conducted."

FACETIAE.

SCENE—Recitation room No. 1, class reciting. President busily engaged in wiping his spectacles. Knock heard at the door. The door being opened, discloses a gentleman from Haddam, ox whip in hand, and cowhide boots on feet. Haddamite.—"Is the Boss in?" (Faint smile).

IN the window of an apothecary shop, not a thousand miles from Middletown, stands a card reading, HOMEOPATHIC REMEDIES REPARED HERE.

SCENE—Banks of the Connecticut, near the new Railroad Bridge.

Communicative Old Gent.—This granite which is used for the bridge is a very handsome building stone, but they find a stone down at Higganum which is beautifully banded with black and white.

Intelligent Junior (who takes Geology).—Why, that is gneiss, is it not?

Communicative Old Gent.—O, yes sir, it is considered very nice. (Junior wilts).

NOTES AND QUERIES.

G. B. G. is not surpassed by any one in zeal for the ARGUS. Many times has he come to our aid. We were never more glad to see him than on the present occasion. Our readers are indebted to him for all that follows:

In answer to the query as to who is our oldest Alumnus, I send a list of the twelve now living who have attained the age of 60, arranged in the order of seniority.

1. Rev. J. W. Merrill, of '34, Southampton, Mass., is 67.